

MicroStation

Level Manager Plot or No Plot

Did you know that there is a Plot Category on the far right hand side of the Level Manager Dialog box? This category can accidentally be turned off on all levels or on a level by level basis, causing elements within your design file to display on the screen, but not show up when you send the file to the plotter. This can be very frustrating, so check to see if the elements in question have accidentally been instructed not to plot. This setting is file specific setting.